National Center for Rural Road Safety

Targets technical assistance for safety issues on rural, local, and tribal roadways;

Expands availability and access to current and emerging safety tools and technology;

Assists local, state, and tribal agencies by creating opportunities to make more informed safety decisions based on best practices;

Improves understanding of safety data analysis and evaluations, investment decision making, and emerging topics such as safety culture;

Educates by delivering safety training, tools, and technical assistance that are easy to access;

Accelerates knowledge transfer from training to implementation; and Engages local, state, tribal and federal stakeholders in multidisciplinary 4E (Engineering, Enforcement, Education, Emergency medical services) holistic methodologies.
